The National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) is the primary federal entity for collecting, analyzing, and reporting data related to education in the United States and other nations. It fulfills a congressional mandate to collect, collate, analyze, and report full and complete statistics on the condition of education in the United States; conduct and publish reports and specialized analyses of the meaning and significance of such statistics; assist state and local education agencies in improving their statistical systems; and review and report on education activities in foreign countries.

NCES activities are designed to address high priority education data needs; provide consistent, reliable, complete, and accurate indicators of education status and trends; and report timely, useful, and high quality data to the U.S. Department of Education, the Congress, the states, other education policymakers, practitioners, data users, and the general public.

We strive to make our products available in a variety of formats and in language this is appropriate to a variety of audiences. You, as our customer, are the best judge of our success in communicating information effectively. If you have any comments or suggestions about this or any other NCES product or report, we would like to hear from you. Please direct your comments to:

Introduction

This report contains data on state library agencies in the 50 states and the District of Columbia for state fiscal year 1996.¹ The data were collected through the State Library Agencies (STLA) Survey, the product of a cooperative effort between the Chief Officers of State Library Agencies (COSLA), the U.S. National Commission on Libraries and Information Science (NCLIS), and National Center for Education Statistics (NCES). The FY 1996 STLA Survey is the third in the series.

Background

A state library agency is the official agency of a state charged by the law of that state with the extension and development of public library services throughout the state, which has adequate authority under law of the state to administer state plans in accordance with the provisions of the Library Services and Construction Act (LSCA) (P.L. 101-254, as amended). Beyond these two essential roles, these agencies vary greatly. They are located in various departments of state government and report to different authorities. They are involved in various ways in the development and operation of electronic information networks. They provide different types of services to different types of libraries. STLAs are increasingly receiving broader legislative mandates affecting libraries of all types in the states (i.e., public, academic, school, special, and library systems). For example, their administrative and developmental responsibilities under LSCA Title III (Interlibrary Cooperation and Resource Sharing) affect the operation of thousands of public, academic, school, and special libraries in the nation. STLAs provide important reference and information services to state government and administer the state library and special operations such as state archives, libraries for the blind and physically handicapped, and the State Center for the Book. The STLA may also function as the state's public library at large, providing service to the general public and state government employees. This report provides information on the variety of roles being played by such agencies and the various combinations of fiscal, human, and informational resources invested in such work. The definitions of terms used in this report are provided in the survey facsimile at the end of the report.

Purpose of Survey

The STLA Survey provides state and federal policymakers, researchers, and other interested users with descriptive information about STLAs in the 50 states and the District of Columbia. Data on STLAs complement NCES data collected on public, academic, school, and federal libraries, and on library cooperatives. The public library data collected by the STLA survey, when added to the data collected by the NCES Public Libraries Survey, will help complete the national picture of public library service. In summary, the STLA Survey data will join the results of these other NCES data collections to provide a comprehensive, national profile of libraries and information services.

Congressional Authorization

The STLA Survey is conducted in compliance with the NCES mission "to collect, analyze, and disseminate statistics and other information related to education in the United States...", P.L. 103-382, Title IV, National Education Statistics Act of 1994, Sec 404 (a).

Highlights

Governance

- Nearly all state library agencies (48 states and the District of Columbia) are located in the executive branch of government. Of these, over 60 percent are part of a larger agency, the most common being the state department of education. In two states, Arizona and Michigan, the agency reports to the legislature (tables 1a and 1b).

Allied and Other Special Operations

- A total of 17 state library agencies reported having one or more allied operations (table 2). Allied operations most frequently linked with a state library agency are the state archives (10 states), the state records management service (11 states), and the state legislative reference/research service (eight states).
- Fourteen state agencies contract with libraries in their states to serve as resource or reference/information service centers. Seventeen state agencies operate a State Center for the Book² (table 2).

Electronic Network Development

- In all 50 states, the state library agency plans or monitors electronic network development, 43 states operate such networks, and 46 states develop network content (table 3).
- State agencies also provide significant support to library access to the Internet. All of them are involved in facilitating library access to the Internet in one or more of the following ways: training library staff or consulting in the use of the Internet; providing a subsidy for Internet participation; providing equipment needed to access the Internet; mounting directories, data bases, or online catalogs; or managing gophers, file servers, bulletin boards, or listservs (table 3).

Library Development Services

Services to Public Libraries

- Every state library agency provides these types of services to public libraries: administration of LSCA (Library Services and Construction Act) grants, collection of library statistics, continuing education, and library planning, evaluation, and research (table 4a).
- Services to public libraries provided by at least three-quarters of state agencies include administration of state aid, consulting services, interlibrary loan referral services, library legislation preparation or review, literacy program support, reference referral services, state standards or guidelines, public relations or promotional campaigns, summer reading program support, and union list development (table 4a).

²The State Center for the Book is part of the Center for the Book program sponsored by the Library of Congress which promotes books, reading, and literacy, and is hosted or funded by the state.

- Over three-fifths of state agencies provide Online Computer Library Center (OCLC) Group Access Capability (GAC) to public libraries (table 4a).
- Less common services to public libraries include accreditation of libraries, cooperative purchasing of library materials, preservation/conservation services, and retrospective conversion of bibliographic records (table 4a).

Services to Academic Libraries

- Over two-thirds of state library agencies report the following services to the academic library sector: administration of LSCA Title III grants, continuing education, interlibrary loan referral services, reference referral services, and union list development (table 4b).
- Less common services to academic libraries provided by state agencies include cooperative purchasing of library materials, literacy program support, preservation/conservation, retrospective conversion, and state standards or guidelines. No state agency accredits academic libraries; only Washington state certifies academic librarians (table 4b).

Services to School Library Media Centers

- Two-thirds of all state library agencies provide continuing education and interlibrary loan referral services to school library media centers (LMCs) (table 4c). Services to LMCs provided by over half of state agencies include administration of LSCA Title III grants and reference referral (table 4c).
- Less common services to LMCs include administration of state aid, cooperative purchasing of library materials, and retrospective conversion. No state agency accredits LMCs or certifies LMC librarians (table 4c).

Services to Special Libraries

- At least two-thirds of state agencies serve special libraries³ through administration of LSCA grants, consulting services, continuing education, interlibrary loan referral, reference referral, and union list development (table 4d).
- Less common services to special libraries include administration of state aid, cooperative purchasing of library materials, and summer reading program support. Only Nebraska accredits special libraries and only Washington state certifies librarians of special libraries(table 4d).

³A library in a business firm, professional association, government agency, or other organized group; a library that is maintained by a parent organization to serve a specialized clientele; or an independent library that may provide materials or services, or both, to the public, a segment of the public, or to other libraries. Scope of collections and services are limited to the subject interests of the host or parent institution. Includes libraries in state institutions.

Services to Systems

- Three-fifths of state agencies serve library systems⁴ through administration of LSCA grants, consulting services, continuing education, library legislation preparation or review, and library planning, evaluation, and research (table 4e).
- Accreditation of systems is provided by only six states and certification of librarians, by only seven states (table 4e).

Service Outlets

- State library agencies reported a total of 154 service outlets. Main or central outlets accounted for 45.5 percent of all outlets, other outlets (excluding bookmobiles) made up 48.1 percent, and bookmobiles represented 6.5 percent of the total (table 5).

Collections

- The number of books and serial volumes held by state library agencies totaled 22.2 million, with New York accounting for the largest collection (2.3 million) (table 7). Six state agencies had book and serial volumes of over one million. In other states, these collections ranged from 500,000 to one million (10 states); 200,000 to 499,999 (12 states); 100,000 to 199,999 (8 states); 50,000 to 99,999 (5 states); and 50,000 or less (8 states). The state library agency in Maryland does not maintain a collection, and the District of Columbia does not maintain a collection in its function as a state library agency.
- The number of serial subscriptions held by state library agencies totaled almost 78,000, with New York holding the largest number (over 14,200) (table 7). Ten state agencies reported serial subscriptions of over 2,000. In other states, these collections ranged from 1,000 to 1,999 (5 states), 500 to 999 (19 states), 100 to 499 (13 states), and under 100 (2 states and the District of Columbia).

Staff

- The total number of budgeted full-time equivalent (FTE) positions in state library agencies was 3,682 (table 11a). Librarians with ALA-MLS degrees accounted for 1,169 of these positions, or 31.8 percent of total FTE positions. Rhode Island reported the largest percentage (57.1) of ALA-MLS librarians, and Utah reported the lowest (17.8 percent).

Income

- State library agencies reported a total income of $795.6 million in FY 96 (84.0 percent came from state sources, 14.6 percent from federal, and 1.4 percent from other sources) (table 13).
- Of state library agency income received from state sources, nearly $433 million (64.8 percent) was designated for state aid to libraries (table 15). Eight states had 75 percent or more of their income from state sources set aside for state aid. Georgia had the largest percentage of state library agency

income set aside for state aid (97.0 percent). Six states and the District of Columbia targeted no state funds for aid to libraries. Hawaii, Iowa, Louisiana, South Dakota, Vermont, Washington, and the District of Columbia reported state income only for operation of the state agency.⁵

Expenditures

- State library agencies reported total expenditures of over $767.2 million (table 16). The largest percentage (83.3 percent) came from state funds, followed by federal funds (15.5 percent), and other funds (1.2 percent).
- In five states, over 90 percent of total expenditures were from state sources (table 16). These states were Massachusetts (93.2 percent), Maryland (93.1 percent), Georgia (92.5 percent), New York (92.0 percent), and Illinois (91.2 percent). Louisiana had the lowest percentage of expenditures from state sources (53.6 percent), with most of its expenditures from federal sources.
- Sixty-nine percent of total state library expenditures were for aid to libraries, with the largest percentages expended on individual public libraries (52.1 percent) and public library systems (17.2 percent) (tables 21 and 23c). Most aid-to-libraries expenditures (86.0 percent) were from state sources, and 13.8 percent were from federal sources (table 18).
- Fifteen state library agencies reported expenditures for allied operations (table 25). These expenditures totaled almost $19.7 million and represented 2.6 percent of total expenditures by state library agencies. Of states reporting allied operations expenditures, California reported the highest expenditure ($2.5 million) and Arizona the lowest ($127,000).⁶
- Twenty-eight state library agencies reported a total of almost $28.9 million in grants and contracts expenditures to assist public libraries with state education reform initiatives or the National Education Goals (table 26). Four-fifths of the expenditures were used to promote adult literacy and lifelong learning, and almost one-fifth to promote readiness for school. Two state agencies (Nebraska and Rhode Island) focused their expenditures exclusively on readiness for school projects, and nine state agencies (Colorado, Connecticut, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, New Jersey, Oklahoma, and Texas) focused their expenditures exclusively on adult literacy and lifelong learning projects.

⁵The District of Columbia Public Library functions as a state library agency and is eligible for Federal LSCA (Library Services and Construction Act) funds in this capacity. The state library agency in Hawaii is associated with the Hawaii State Public Library System and operates all public libraries within its jurisdiction. The state funds for aid to libraries for these two agencies are reported on the NCES Public Libraries Survey, rather than on the STLA survey, because of the unique situation of these two state agencies, and in order to eliminate duplicative reporting of these data.

⁶Alaska and Kansas have allied operations, but the expenditures are not from the state library agency budget.

1/ LSCA--the Library Services and Construction Act (P.L. 101-254).

2/ OCLC Group Access Capability (GAC)--Use of the Online Computer Library Center (OCLC) system, originally the Ohio College Library Center, by a group of libraries for resource sharing and interlibrary lending (ILL). Group Access Capability (GAC) related activities may include coordinating group profiling, establishing group policies, coordinating ILL protocols within the group, and referring requests outside of a GAC group.

Note: System--A system is a group of autonomous libraries joined together by formal or informal agreements to perform various services cooperatively such as resource sharing, communications, etc. Includes multitype library systems and public library systems. Excludes multiple outlets under the same administration.

* In Connecticut, 2 of the 3 outlets listed under "Total outlets" in the category "Other outlets (excluding bookmobiles)" serve other libraries, not individuals.

Notes: 1. Service outlets include:

- (a) Main or central outlet--A single unit library or the unit where the principal collections are located and handled. Note: Does not include a state library agency administrative center which is separate from the principal collections and is not open to users.
- (b) Other outlets (excluding bookmobiles)--Units that have all of the following: (1) separate quarters; (2) a permanent basic collection of books and/or other materials; (3) a permanent paid staff; and (4) a regular schedule of hours open to users.
- (c) Bookmobiles--Trucks or vans specially equipped to carry books and other library materials. They serve as travelling branch libraries. Note: The number of vehicles in use are counted, rather than the number of stops each vehicle makes.

2. User group outlets may not sum to total outlets because an outlet may serve more than one user group.

Appendices

Appendix A—Survey Methodology

This report contains data on state library agencies in the 50 states and the District of Columbia for state fiscal year 1996. The data were collected through the State Library Agencies (STLA) Survey, FY 1996, conducted by the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES). The reporting unit for the survey is the state library agency.

Survey Software

The STLA Survey software was designed to minimize response burden and provide NCES with state-edited data requiring minimal follow-up for data quality. Respondents are alerted to questionable data during the data entry process by pop-up messages that prompt them to verify or revise the data, as appropriate. The software also produces error/warning reports of questionable data, for review and further editing, if appropriate. The survey software and user guide are provided to respondents on diskette and over the Internet. The user guide contains the instructions for using the software and a facsimile of the survey. The completed survey can be transmitted by mail or over the Internet.

Mail-out, Editing, and Follow-up

To reduce response burden, the survey was transmitted with prior-year data for items where the data are not expected to change annually--most of Parts A through G, or about 40 percent of the survey. The respondent was requested to review the pre-entered data and update any information that had changed. All other numeric data cells were initialized with -2. The software does not permit a data file to be saved by a respondent if a -2 remains in any data cell. The survey respondent was instructed to answer -1 to any numeric item if they could not provide the data. Alpha-numeric items which are left blank indicate nonresponse (i.e., not reported or not applicable). Missing data are not imputed. A zero (0) is a reported response and indicates the STLA had none of the item.

The survey was mailed to the states in mid-October, 1996 and had a due date of January 15, 1997. The last submission was received on September 2, 1997. The Bureau of the Census was the data collection and processing agent for NCES.

Nonresponse follow-up was conducted in February, 1997, and the data were edited from February through September of 1997. After data submissions were received from all 50 states and the District of Columbia, the preliminary national file and the tables for this report were reviewed for data quality by the STLA Steering Committee, NCES, and Census. The states were contacted to request verification or correction of questionable data.

The STLA Survey software performs four types of data edit checks:

1. Relational edit checks. A data consistency check between related data elements. For example, an error message is generated if the STLA is designated as a Federal depository library but does not indicate the type of Federal depository library.
2. Out-of-range edit checks. A comparison of data reported for an item to the "acceptable range" of values. For example, an error message is generated if annual Circulation per annual Library Visits is less than 0.5.

3. Arithmetic edit checks. An arithmetic accuracy check of a reported total and its parts to the generated total. For example, an error message is generated if Total Operating Expenditures is not equal to the sum of its parts (Total Staff Expenditures, Collection Expenditures, and Other Operating Expenditures).
4. Blank/zero/invalid edit checks. A check of reported data against acceptable values. For example, an error message is generated if Book/Serial Volumes is 0 or blank.

Survey Data Items

The survey collects data on 462 items, including governance, public service hours, number and types of service outlets, type and size of collections, library service transactions and development transactions, support of electronic information networks, allied operations, staff, and income and expenditures. Data are also collected on STLA services to public, academic, school, and special libraries, and to library systems. The data items and definitions are provided in the survey facsimile at the end of this report.

Universe

The state library agencies in the 50 states and the District of Columbia (51 total) comprise the survey universe.

Response Rate

Unit Response. The FY 1996 STLA Survey achieved a 100 percent response rate.

Item Response. Most items had a 100 percent response rate. The lowest response rate to any item was 80.4 percent (library visits). Survey items with less than a 100 percent response rate are listed below by response rate ranges, data item number, and name:

95.0 - 99.9 percent response

006 - Zip + 4 (physical location address)
011 - Zip + 4 (mailing address)
016 - Internet (chief officer)
021 - Internet (survey respondent)
095 - Serial subscriptions
096 - Government documents
111 - Interlibrary loans received from other libraries/document delivery services
210 - Academic and school libraries

80.4 - 84.9 percent response

114 - Library visits

Reporting Period. The FY 1996 STLA Survey requested data for state fiscal year 1996, except for Part B—Governance and Part J—Staff data which were requested as of October 1, 1996. The fiscal year of most states is July 1 to June 30. Exceptions are New York (April 1 to March 31); Texas and Hawaii (September 1 to August 31); and Alabama, the District of Columbia, and Michigan (October 1 to September 30).

Using the Data to Make Comparisons. The STLA data are not imputed for item nonresponse, so state and national totals may be underestimated for some items. State comparisons should be made with caution because states may vary in their item response rates, fiscal year reporting periods, and adherence to survey definitions. The District of Columbia, while not a state, is included in the survey. Special care should be used in comparing District of Columbia data with state data.

Serials are publications issued in successive parts, usually at regular intervals, and as a rule, intended to be continued indefinitely. Serials include periodicals (magazines), newspapers, annuals (reports, yearbooks, etc.) memoirs, proceedings, and transactions of societies. Except for the current volume, count unbounded serials as volumes when the library has at least half of the issues in a publisher's volume.

The term film is used interchangeably with "motion picture" which is a length of film with or without recorded sound, bearing a sequence of still images that create the illusion of movement when projected in rapid successions (usually 18 or 24 frames per second). Motion pictures are produced in a variety of sizes (8, super 8, 16, 35, 55, and 70 mm) and in a variety of forms (cartridge, cassette, loop, and reel).
- 094 Video materials. These are materials on which pictures, sound, or both are recorded. Electronic playback reproduces pictures, sounds, or both using a television receiver or monitor.

This count does not include the number of individual issues, but rather each serial title. Report the total number of titles subscribed to, including duplicates. Do not report individual issues.
- 096 Government documents (include only government documents not accessible through the library catalog and not reported elsewhere). For government documents not accessible through the library catalog and not reported on other lines, report the number of volumes or physical units of such materials in all formats. - Note: The American Library Association and the Association of Research Libraries' North American Collections Inventory Project identifies five levels of collection development. A special collection is a group of materials in a subject area that are selected and maintained at the support, research, or comprehensive level. Do not report collections selected and maintained at the basic level or minimal level as special. The five collection levels are defined below.
- Collection Levels
- Comprehensive level. A collection in which a library endeavors, so far as is reasonably possible, to include all significant works of recorded knowledge (publications, manuscripts, periodicals, other forms) for a necessarily defined field. The aim, if not the achievement, is exhaustiveness.

Research level. A collection which includes the major source materials required for governmental, professional, and independent research, including seminal works, materials containing research reporting, new findings, scientific experimental results, and other information useful to researchers. It includes all important reference works, a wide selection of specialized monographs, as well as a very extensive collection of journals and major indexing and abstracting services in the field.

Support level. A collection intended to support legislative and governmental interests and programs, network responsibilities, and sustained independent study. It is adequate to maintain knowledge of a subject required for limited or generalized purposes of less than research intensity. It includes a wide range of basic monographs, complete of the works of primary writers, selections from the works of secondary or controversial writers, a selection of representative journals, and the reference tools and fundamental bibliographical works pertaining to the subject.

Basic level. A collection of materials which will introduce and define a subject and indicate the varieties of information available elsewhere. It may include major dictionaries and encyclopedias, selected editions of important works, general surveys, important bibliographies, handbooks, and a few major periodicals. A collection developed at this level is not sufficiently intense to support government programs or independent study in the subject area involved. It may, however, include strong retrospective holdings in subject areas that were, at one time, a higher priority of the STLA.

Minimal level. A subject area in which few selections are made beyond very basic works.

Subject Areas

Related regional and local materials may also be included. May include printed histories; maps; pamphlets, broadsides, and programs; pictures; newspapers and periodicals; speeches and sermons; biographies, journals, diaries, letters and other personal papers, and private manuscripts; and books by State authors. Such a collection is usually kept up-to-date through the inclusion of historical narrative and statistical information relative to the present time.
- 104 Other special collections. If the STLA has a special collection in any other subject area, enter <Y>es for this item.
- 105 Specify. If response to item 104 is <Y>es, identify the subject area(s) in this item.

Note: Forty hours per week is the measure of full-time employment for this survey. FTE's (full-time equivalents) of employees in any category may be computed by taking the number of hours worked per week by all employees in that category and dividing it by 40.

Report staff based on the STLA organization chart. A given position (e.g., State Data Coordinator) may be part of administration in one agency, library development in another, and library services in another agency. If an employee provides more than one service, allocate the FTE among appropriate categories.
